Excerpt: . . . lose sight of this truth, in considering the different phenomena of the natural world. We say that the storm, the lightning, and the tornado, are powerful; but where would be their power were the omnipotent Mind to be withdrawn We say of the man who is a giant in muscular strength, that his arm is mighty; but where is its power when the spirit takes its flight That arm that was raised in terror, is now nerveless and innocent, and the insignificant worm proudly triumphs over it. Power, like the mind to which it belongs, is indestructible. Physical disorganization may impede its action, but it cannot annihilate it. There is power even in the mind of an idiot. It may be fettered, like Samson, with cords for a season; but it only waits for a proper time--the time that God has appointed--when, like him, it will burst those cords, and rise with native, unobstructed freedom. But there is within us, in addition to this locomotive power, one of a much higher grade. It is the power of thought--thought that gives to man dominion over the beasts of the field, the birds of the air, and the fish of the sea--thought, the mighty instrument that moves the affairs of this world! Look at its achievements! What has it not done It has embodied itself in language, and found the means of its own preservation; so that the thoughts of ages past become the thoughts...
